

I strongly believe that I have the right to tell a person not to contact me by phone when they are trying to sell or promote something to me. There is an electronic device called 'Martha' that has been calling us every day for the last 6 months in spite of that we had registered all our phones with the 'do not call list'. If someone wishes to receive this kind of calls or similar ones the only thing they have to do is not to register. Thanks